"HEW TO THE LINE, LET THE CHIPS FALL WHERE THEY MAY."

VOLUME 2.

MAYSVILLE, TUESDAY EVENING, JANUARY 23, 1883.

NUMBER 53.

Rev. Father Wilds' EXPERIENCE.

The Rev. Z. P. Wilds, well-known city missionary in New York, and brother of the late eminent Judge Wilds, of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, writes us as follows:

"78 E. 54th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

MESSRS. J. C. AYER & CO., Gentlemen:

Last winter I was troubled with a most uncomfortable itching humor affecting more especially my limbs, which itched so intolerably at night, and burned so intensely, that I could scarcely bear any clothing over them. I was also a sufferer from a severe catarrh and catarrhal cough; my appetite was poor, and my system a good deal run down. Knowing the value of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, by observation of many other cases, and from personal use in former years, I began taking it for the above-named disorders. My appetite improved almost from the first dose. After a short time the fever and itching were allayed, and all signs of irritation of the skin disappeared. My catarrh and cough were also cured by the same means, and my general health greatly improved, until it is now excellent. I feel a hundred percent stronger, and I attribute these results to the use of the SARSAPARILLA, which I recommend with all confidence as the best blood medicine ever devised. I took it in small doses three times a day, and used, in all, less than two bottles. I place these facts at your service, hoping their publication may do good.

Yours respectfully,

Z. P. WILDS."

The above instance is but one of the many constantly coming to our notice, which prove the perfect adaptability of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA to the cure of all diseases arising from impure or impoverished blood, and a weakened vitality.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

cleanses, enriches, and strengthens the blood, stimulates the action of the stomach and bowels, and thereby enables the system to resist and overcome the attacks of all Scrofulous Diseases, Eructations of the Skin, Rheumatism, Catarrh, General Debility, and all disorders resulting from poor or corrupted blood and a low state of the system.

Bill Arp's Baby Talk.

The poet hath said that "a baby in the house is a well-spring of pleasure." There is a bran new one here now, the first in eight years, and it has raised a powerful commotion. It's not our baby, exactly, but it is in the line of descent, and Mrs. Arp takes on over it all the same as she used to when she was regularly in the business. I thought maybe she had forgot how to nurse 'em and talk to 'em, but she is singing the same old familiar songs that have sweetened the dreams of half a score, and she blesses the little eyes and sweet little mouth, and uses the same in antiseptic language that nobody but babies understand. For she says "tum he e to its damndidder," and "bess its' little heart, and talks about its sweet little tootsy-tootsies, and holds it up to the windows to see the wagons go by and the wheels going round-pouny, and now my liberty is entailed, for as I go stampin' around with my heavy farm shoes she stakes her omnino's finger at me
just as she used to do, and says
don't you see the baby is asleep, and so I have to tip-toe around, and e'er and anon she wants a little fire, or some hot water, or a little catnip, for the bab is a crying and surey has got the colic.
The doors have to be kept shut now or fear of a dra to air on the baby, and a little hole in the window-pane about as big as a dime had to be patched, and I have to hunt up a passel o' kin'lings every night and put 'em where they will be handy, and they have sent me off to another room where the baby can't hear me snore, and all things considered the bab is runnin' the machine,
and the well-spring of pleasure
is the center of space.

A grandmother is a wonderful help,
and a great comfort at such a time as this, for what does a young mother with her first child know about colic, and thrash, and hives, and hic-ups, and it takes a good deal of faith to dose 'em
with sue tea, and catnip, and lime water, and paregoric, and soothing-sirup, and sometimes with all of these the child gets worse, and if it gets better I've always had a curiosity to know which remedy it was that did the work. Children born of healthy parents can stand a power of medicine and get over it, for after the cry comes the sleep, and sleep
is a wonderful restorer.

Rock 'em awhile in the cradle, and then take 'em up and jolt 'em a little on the knee, and then turn 'em over and jolt 'em on the other side, and then give 'em some sugar in a rag, and a terrable while they will go to sleep and let the poor mother rest. There is no patent on this business, no way of raising 'em
all the same way, but it is trouble, trouble from the start, and nobody but a mother knows how much trouble it is. A man ought to be a mighty good man just for his mother's sake, if nothing else, for there is no toil or troub'e like nursing and caring for a little child, and there is no grief so great as a mother's if all her care and anxiety
are wasted on an ungrateful child.—Allanta Constitution.

—Mr. Jacob Kunkel, the junior member of the firm of Kunkel Brothers, died recently. He was one of the most artistic musicians resident in the United States. His compositions, always full of melody and exquisitely harmonized, had made him famous as a writer of piano music far beyond the limits of the United States. As a solo pianist he was poetic in his interpretations, beyond any one, perhaps, since the days of Gottschalk, and his duo playing with his surviving brother, Charles, was, according to no less authority than the king of pianists, Anton Rubinstein, the finest in the world. Mr. Kunkel had not yet completed his twenty-sixth year

Effect of Cultivation.

The common po'a'o probably shows
the effect of cultivation as much as any plant ever introduced into fields or gardens. But it is not generally known that the change from its normal to what we may term improved state is quite rapid, requiring only a few years to produce large tubers of various colors from the wild ones by care ul culinre. Where the wild plants grow abundantly in New Mexico and some parts of Arizona,
the ranch men assure us that when they plow up the wild plants in putting in cultivated crops, the effect upon the pota-to's is quite marked. The tubers at first are about the size of small marbles,
or a half inch or a little more in diameter, but the second season after being disturbed they will become nearly or quite double the original size, and the next season still larger, if not killed out in the plowing and hoeing. The size of the plants also increases and the leaves, which at first are only about a half inch wide by an inch in length, increase in the same proportion as the tubers. We have ourselves gathered the tubers from the wild plants in the und sturbed soils of the valleys of New Mexico, as well as from the disturbed or plowed land, and noted the difference in size as claimed by many of the residents of the country.—N. V.

An Interesting Lion-Story.

The memory of the lion was preserved in its ancient haunts long after it had become extinct. The scene of one of the prettiest stories told by Aelian is la'd in Mount Pangaeum, which, from its mention bp Xenophon, must have been a famous haunt of lions:

Eudemus tells the tale that in Pan-gæum in Thrace a bear attacked the lair of a lion, while it was unguarded, and killed the cubs that were too small
and too weak to defend themselves.
And when the fathe' and the mother
came home from hunting somewhere, and saw their children lying dead, they were much aggrie ed, and attacked the bear; but she was afraid, and climbed up into a tree as fast as she could, and settled herself down, trying to avoid the attack. Now, when they saw that they could not avenge themselves on her, the lioness did not cease to watch the tree,
but sat down in ambush at the foot, eyeing the bear, that was covered with blood. But the lion, as it were, without purpose and distraught with grief,
after the manner of a man, rushed off to the mountains, and chanced to light
on a wood-cutter, who, in terror, let fall
his ax; but the lion fawned upon him, and reaching up saluted him as well as he could, and licked his face with his tongue. And the man took courage.
Then the lion encircled him with his tail, and led him, and did not suffer him to leave his ax behind, but pointed with his foot for it to be taken up. And when the man did not understand he took it up in his mouth and reached it to him. Then he followed while the lion led him to his den. And when the lioness saw him, she came and made signs, looking at the pitiable spectacle, and then up at the bear. Then the man perceived and understood that the lion
had suffered cruel wrong from 'he bear, and cut down the tree with might and main. And the tree fell, and the lions tore the bear in pieces; but the man the lion led back aga'n, safe and sound, to the place where he lighted on him, and returned him to the very tree he had been cutting.—W. Boyd Dawkins, in

THE number of dead by the Milwaukee fire is now estimated at seventy-four.

THE loss of crops in Ireland during the past year foot up twenty-five million dollars.

THE forestry law in Kansas, the past year led to the planting of nearly one hundred thousand trees.

THE fine residence of J. R. Smith, of the firm of Smith & Nixon, at Clifton, Cincinnati, burned on Monday morning.

GENERAL JOSEPH E. JOHNSTON has been recommended for the appointment as Commissioner of the District of Columbia.

NEXT year is the centenary of organic American Methodism, and it is proposed that all Methodist sects shall unite in a celebration.

POMEROY'S Democrat says: The Republicans of Ohio, at their social parties this winter do not dance the German, as they have not liked it since last fall!

THE steamship Cimbria, sunk in the German ocean by a collision with Sultan, had on board four hundred and seventy-seven souls, only fifty-six of whom are known to be saved.

THE average price of last week's sales of tobacco at Cincinnati was $9.89 against $8.06 for the previous week. The average price for new was $8.09. The weather having been favorable for striking large receipts are looked for in the next few days.

THE new style postal card, with a flap over the writing, is soon to go into general use, but the flap will never protect the contents of a postal card from being read. Nothing but a time lock or a burglar proof safe will maintain the purity of the postal card.

NEWS BREVITIES.

Several cases of small-pox in one family have created a flurry in Little Rock.

P. P. Pickard, of Perry County, has been elected Comptroller of the Treasury of Tennessee.

At Belair, N. J., Friday, the body of Arthur Preston, hanged, was stolen from the graveyard.

Forty Chinamen were killed at Berkeley, Cal., on Sunday, by the explosion of Giant Powder works.

A physician's wife elbowed a minister's wife off a narrow sidewalk into the mud at Laporte, Ind., and was fined $11.

Charles E. Upton, late president of the defunct City Bank, of Rochester, N. Y., is indicted by the grand jury for embezzlement and fraud.

Samuel Ruth, the defrauding cashier of the Washington, (Pa.) bank, was held over to court on two charges of forgery and two of larceny.

John Landenberger, the Philadelphia merchant, who, it is alleged, defrauded his creditors of a hundred thousand dollars, has been traced to Toronto.

An unknown thief extracted from the safe in the office of Rufus Rose, Albany, N. Y., a package containing $3,800 deposited there by Wm. Sweet, a railroad conductor.

At Lima the Chilian authorities seized the furniture of Garcia Anrelico, Garcia; also of the widow of General Salaverry, for non-payment of a war contribution of $2,000.

John B. Dennis is arrested at Mt. Joy, Pa., on information from the police authorities of St. Louis, charged with defrauding a resident of that city out of three thousand dollars, and is held to await re-quisition.

An injunction has been granted the New York and Texas Land Company to restrain Texas State officials from having surveys made of more than thirty thousand acres of land lying in eight different Texas counties.

The third annual banquet of the Chicago Press Club, given at the Grand Pacific Hotel, was an elegant affair, largely attended by local and visiting journalists. The responses to the toasts were brief, and the banquet was followed by dancing.

STATE GLANCES.

Sighted and Culled at Long Range.

Robert Gay's tobacco barn, five miles from Mt. Sterling, burned down. Loss, $3,000.

Hiram McNeill died, near Paducah, while awaiting trial for the murder of Jas. Herndon.

At Lexington, Joe Love, just out of the penitentiary, got into a quarrel with a negro named Chenault, and was stabbed perhaps fatally.

Neal and Craft continue to assert their innocence and say they want plenty of troops to protect them when they go to Carter county for trial.

It is said the people of Breathitt and Carter counties are talking deeply of resistance to the troops, who are to be sent up in February to protect Neal and Craft.

At Olympia Station, near Owingsville, a twelve-year-old boy named Campbell, attempted to cross the railroad track in front of an express train. The locomotive struck him, and the wheels cut off his legs. He lived only three hours.

Three prisoners, confined in the Brandenburg jail, opened their cell-door with a false key, then called loudly for the jailer's wife, and, when she had opened the outside door, overpowered her, forced her into the cell, and made their escape. Two of the prisoners, Warmouth, convicted of robbing the Adams Express Company, and Williams, a forger, were captured by a posse of citizens; but a negro, charged with larceny, made good his escape.

It is a fact worthy of notice that all the Democratic Senators have been elected without delay and with decent and orderly proceedings, while the Republicans have had a Kilkenny cat time in making their selections. The charges, too, of fraud and forgery, have been openly made in connection with the success of several of the Republican candidates. The record made by that party in 1876 seems to still cling to its skirts.

DAILY EVENING BULLETIN.

TUESDAY EVE., JANUARY 23, 1883.

ROSSER & McCARTHY,
PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

THE freezing snap of yesterday,
Sent by the weather clerk
To harden up the muddy streets,
Was pretty clever work.
And now he sends the driving snow,
In steady volume down,
To give a finished air to all
By whitening the town.

THERE is a good supply of coal in town.

COAL sells for 15 cents a bushel at Lexington.

THE river rose over twelve inches last night.

A STRIKE is reported to be imminent among the operatives in the shoe manufacturers at Cincinnati.

THE tow-boat J. N. Phillips was cut down by the ice near Pittsburg, Sunday. The officers and crew escaped.

THE last speech in the turnpike suit was made to-day by Mr. Kennedy, of Carlisle. The jury will take the case this afternoon.

THE meeting at the Baptist Church was well attended last night, considering the cold weather. All are invited to attend this evening at 7 o'clock.

A RISE of eleven feet is reported at Pittsburgh with the Monongahela and Allegheny rivers still coming up. A large lot of coal will be shipped as soon as the ice runs out.

"COL." CRAWFORD, who killed Pent Lyons several weeks ago, is said to have been seen recently on Kinniconick Creek, Lewis county, on his way to the mountains.

THE Morning Mail hereafter will leave Cincinnati at 4:30 o'clock a.m. Returning she will leave Maysville at 1 o'clock p.m. This arrangement will enable the Morning Mail to make connection with the afternoon trains and the omnibuses.

C. H. COOPER will for the next sixty days offer his entire stock of dry goods at cost for cash. The stock embraces everything in the dry goods line and will be sold without reserve on the terms named. The ladies, especially, are invited to call and inspect the stock. See announcement elsewhere.

A DESPATCH from Louisville to the Cincinnati Times-Star says:

The Commercial's specials report a bitter feeling in Carter and Breathitt counties against the State troops, growing out of the defeat of the mob with sixteen deaths, at Ashland, when Neal and Craft, the murderers, were being tried last month. The two men are to be put on trial in Carter county, on February 2nd, and it is reported the people up there are arming themselves, and threaten death to any militia the Governor sends to protect the murderers.

The Governor will probably order out 500 men to protect the prisoners. The county is very wild and remote, and the mountaineers are a determined and courageous class. There is only one railroad, and this passes through many tunnels and ravines. Grave apprehensions of a regular war are entertained.

Baggage and Parcel Delivery.

Mr. Henry Green, of the Kentucky Central Railway, lately bought at Lexington a handsome new express wagon which will be used in this city for the transfer of baggage and freight from the train and river and for the delivery of parcels throughout the town. The prices charged will be from ten to twenty-five cents, according to the size of the articles carried. Mr. W. Joe Ray, one of the best drivers in the city, will have charge of the business. Orders left at C. W. Bierley's confectionery store will be promptly attended to.

Baird's Minstrels.

This troupe which numbers thirty-five performers, among them a number of well known artists, will appear at the Opera House next Friday evening. We select from a large number of press notices the following from the Boston Herald of a late date:

A crowded house and a fine entertainment marked the opening of the Windsor Theatre, under its new management last evening. Baird's Mammoth Minstrels formed the attraction of the stage, and did ample justice to themselves and the occasion, and presenting a programme of a high order of excellence and particularly noticeable for its originality and refinement. In the first part the choicest vocal and instrumental selections were rendered with harmony and artistic taste by a well trained septet, assisted by a juvenile chorus and flute orchestra, as a foil to which a succession of comic ditties and witty salutes were contributed by eight endmen, foremost of whom were Billy McAllister and Ned West. A long and attractive solo introduced brilliantly executed trombone solos by Nath'n Carl; Pharaoh, the electric man, who is indeed a prince of contortionists; Ace Leroy, one of the best female impersonators in the burnt cork field; Ripley and Reade, the well known and expert Indian team; Ned West in a ludicrous specialty; Billy McAllister in a bone solo; the Royal Hand-bellringers, who sing extremely well to their own accompaniment; the Midget Four, who dance on each other's heads in the most nonchalant manner; the Four Invincibles in offerings of Ethiopian song; and a strong corps of song and dance and clog performers. "The Banker's Wife," which concluded the entertainment, is a laughable farce, of which McAllister is the chief light. This bill will be repeated during the week nightly, and at Wednesday and Saturday matinees. Managers Lothrop and Baird are alike to be congratulated—the former upon the enthusiastic reception accorded the first attraction which he presents at his south-end playhouse, and the latter upon the merits of that attraction.

BY TELEGRAPH.

Boiler Explosion.

WILMINGTON, DEL., Jan. 22.—The boiler of the paper mills run by Geo. W. Childs, of the Philadelphia Ledger, near Elkton, Maryland, exploded at 6 o'clock this morning, killing three men and wounding five others.

Another Train Disaster.

TROY, N. Y., January 22.—A morning train on the Fort Edward branch of the Delaware & Hudson Railroad has jumped the track, and the entire train has been thrown down a steep embankment. The fireman and several others are killed, Help has not yet reached the scene of the disaster.

PERSONALS.

Points About People Here and Elsewhere.

Mr. George W. Oldham is able to give his attention to his business again.

Misses Annie Robinson and Alice Bradley, of Amelia, Ohio, are the guests of Miss Clara D. Howe.

Mr. George Childs, of the firm of Childs, Robinson & Co., will leave to-day for Southern Kentucky, where his firm has a large trade.

COUNTY POINTS.

TWO LICK.

People are sick with colds. Mr. Burgess was around last week assessing the precinct.

Johnnie Disher was in Clark county the first of the week.

The supper at the Church was very well attended considering the bad travelling. Everything passed off pleasantly and plenty to eat for all that were there. The proceeds amounted to about $47.

GERMANTOWN.

Henry Thomas is trying the Cincinnati tobacco market this week.

Ben and Tom Tyler are confined to their rooms with measles.

Mrs. Dr. Dimmitt was visiting in Maysville last week.

Several of our citizens took in the ball given at Brooksville last Thursday night.

T. M. Dora wears the belt as being the boss checker player of our club. Dr. G. S. Savage, second best.

B. F. Welmer, the boss engineer is engaged in repairing the engine in the Monon & Co.'s mill at Gas Point.

The workmen employed in building Prof. Rigdon's fine residence on Broadway, say they will lose money by the contract. The wood work will be completed soon, and then it will be given over to Thomas & Dimmitt, the worthy paluters when they will put on the furnishing touch.

STONE LICK.

Miss Mason is visiting her cousin, near Hedges.

Mr. John Ricker does not get the farm he had bought.

Charles Calvert and wife are visiting relatives near Mt. Gillett.

Miss Amanda Calvert was visiting Miss Nannie Calvert, last week.

Frank Bradley, who died last Monday, was buried Tuesday evening, at Stone Lick.

Mr. Frank Parker came very near getting his eye knocked out cutting stove wood.

E. H. Parsons has been keeping toll-gate on the Orangeburg turnpike for twenty years at one gate.

A tobacco barn belonging to Col. Cooper was burned Monday night. It is supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

Mr. Tom Calvert got hurt on the leg. His horse fell down with him and bruised him considerably, but not fatally.

Mrs. Hattie Key, the reigning belle of our neighborhood, has returned from a visit to Fleming county. She has seen Hub.

Mr. Harry Farrow is talking of making a quarter mile track for training horses. He has employed Mr. Walter Goodman to do his training.

A mouse has made its home in an organ in this neighborhood. How will I get it out? Is the anxious inquiry of the young lady. We would suggest putting a hungry cat in.

A lady remarked the other day when her son-in-law came home in a sort of how come you so way, that she wished her daughter was in Heaven. Madam, he replied, if she was you would never get to see her.

Mr. Jack Mason gave his nephew, John Mason, and his lovely bride an entertainment last week. They could spend only one day, as Mrs. Kerr, the mother of the bride, was much indisposed. May peace and plenty follow them all their days.

Quite a commotion was created in our little school by one of the scholars leaving before school was out and fastening the door on the outside. Luckily a window pane was out (or rather a board was not nailed over it) and a little urchin got through and released the prisoners. The offending young gentleman spent his play time in the school house next day.

Mr. James Anno was the recipient of a box of Florida fruit, among which were oranges, lemons, grapes, pine apples, citrons and several other varieties. They were the largest and finest ever seen in our enterprising town. Mr. J. H. Watford, through the kindness of Mr. Anno, was a sharer of some of the fruit. Mr. Anno's son, living in Jacksonville, Florida, was the donor. The adage is one good turn deserves another, so, Mr. Anno, do so again.

MURPHYSVILLE.

Will Stevenson started to Danville Monday. We have heard of no tobacco crops being sold yet.

Tom and Charley Crawford spent the Sabbath at Sardis. This is the kind of weather to hang by the fire if you want it pleasant.

Messrs. Bob and Taylor Tarleton are visiting their uncle at Indianapolis, Ind.

Mr. Hiram Galbreath and Miss Flora Ryan, of Blue Lick, visited the family of H. S. Brooking over Sunday.

Miss Florence Gault celebrated her father's birthday Thursday evening by inviting a number of young folks in to enjoy themselves, and they did.

A mite society met at Win. Browning's Thursday night. We did not attend, but "our imagination informs us" that they had a pleasant time.

Robert Brooking started for his home in sunny Kansas Monday. He enjoyed his visit among relatives very much, but does not like Kentucky.

On North Fork's muddy banks we stand And cast our "other" eye,
To Tom Worthington's lofty land,
That points toward the sky.

We cannot get the boss chess players to play a deciding game. J. H. Wright holds the doctor level and says he gave him "two best out of three" Saturday, and thus it stands.

Misses Lena Fleming and Minnie Politti, accompanied by Messrs. Condy Stevenson and John Fleming, went to Rectorville Saturday evening to spend the Sabbath. The young folks seem to like Rectorville very much.

A gentleman of color, claiming to be a preacher, and who travels under the title of Rev. Mullens, stopped with Amron Goff two days last week. After so long a time Goff found out that he was a tramp and turned him loose.

One of the most enjoyable evenings we have passed lately was at the piano party at the residence of Mr. Alex. McArthur, Friday evening, in memory of the birthday of his eldest daughter, Miss Fannie, she having reached that milestone of life's journey the day named. A bountiful repast was spread and heartily enjoyed by about seventy-five hungry people. The guests remained until a late hour, enjoying themselves in various ways, and left with the hope that they should be permitted in one year hence to again pass as pleasant an evening at "her" home.

"M. E. P." of Mt. Gillett, thinks we are very ungrateful to Instinct that the reason there have been so few marriages in this community is because the young men do not want to marry. We did not mean to insultate at all, but made the few remarks from personal observation. The men have not given us their side of the question, but think they are perfectly satisfied to "wait a bit." No doubt that is what worries "M. E. P." to think that the men want to wait so long, and be so very slow at proposing. Some people, no matter what sex, after years have roamed around and they begin to get rather ancient get scared, and think their time is up; then they take a new start, and it is not long till they are so anxious to marry that they do not know what is the matter with them. Whether the BULLETIN's worthy "peep show" of Gillett is one of this class or not we do not know, but "the shoe fit," and was put on. "M. E. P." also reminds us of the proverb that says "wait till you hear the other side." That is just the part of the programme that would tickle us. "Give us the other side, by all means, relate to us your reason why it is thusly." Is there no balm in Gillett? If not, come down into our midst, where the weary never tire of "waiting" and the aged and disappointed rest in peace. Come and we will welcome you with open arms.

AYER'S Sarsaparilla, being highly concentrated, requires a smaller dose, and is more effective dose for dose, than any other blood medicine. It is the cheapest because the best. Quality and not quantity should be considered.

AYER'S Pills cure constipation, improve the appetite, promote digestion, restore healthy action, and regulate every function. They are pleasant to take, gentle in their operations, yet thorough, searching and powerful in subduing disease.

For and About Women.

A girl employed as a spinner in a Lowell mill has taken the first prize offered by the Boston Musical Society for the best criticism of vocal and instrumental music.

The title "Lady" is derived from the Saxon headland, contracted into lady, and then into lady. Laf, or blaef, or loaf, means food or bread, and dian means to serve, so that the title "Lady" means bread-server. The feudal lord supplied the food for the guests, or the poor, and the ladies used to carve and distribute it.

"A woman's tongue is her sword, and she does not let it rust," said the proverb. "A woman's tongue is her sword, and she does not let it rest," set up the type-setter. There are some type-setters who have been married so long that they don't care how inelegantly a domestic proverb may be shaped.

The Russian police have made the very sensible order that "calls for popular performers shall not be extended beyond three reappearances."

Inventors of patent medicines like Ayer, Hembold, and others show tendencies to craziness after a while, though Lydia Pinkham is said to be still on deck.

At the instance of the Berlin Anti-Cruelty Society, all public performances of takers of lions and other dangerous animals will be henceforth forever prohibited.

Overheard in the cloak room: "Did she marry well?" "Yes indeed. He's worth over a million and drinks so hard that he never can go into society; so she's not bothered with him."

At the approaching celebration of the 200th anniversary of the revocation of the edict of Nantes, Baron Schickler of Berlin will publish in French the history of the French colonies in Germany.

Many customs suitable in this country twenty-five years ago are no longer so. Among these is the permitting young ladies to go unattended in great cities, in a few streets of the very best class and in broad daylight.

The Emperor's gift of $125,000 to his inundated people is worthy of his rank and it may be hoped will make an impression on Queen Victoria, whose benefactions are usually quite unworthy of her purse and position.

Going to a New Orleans funeral, a snuff-taker exposed his snuff to the breeze, which blew it into the eye of a horse attached to a carriage behind. In great pain, it became uncontrollable, and smashed the carriage against a lamp post.

An Australian Tom Thumb has been on exhibition in England. His real name is David John Armstrong. He was born in 1851. He is 3 feet 2 inches in height and weighs 70 pounds. His limbs are in perfect proportion. He is very intelligent.

Lord Edmond Fitzmaurice is a solid painstaking person, but of very inferior calibre to Sir Charles Dike, whose place he has just taken. He is only brother to Lord Lansdowne (who succeeded from the Government) and an advanced Liberal.

In the lowest part of the grounds of Gambetta's villa was a rustic edifice, standing on a platform of stone and cement. It is close to a ditch, and looks on a railroad embankment rising high above it. The soil around is stiff and holds water. This was his study.

The death is announced of Sir Henry Meux, head partner in one of the chief London breweries. He has for some thirty years been a lunatic, and it is probable that his personal estate will prove of enormous value as the business has been actively carried on.

St. Louis society is agitated by the fact that a beau got into a carriage with a belle to escort her home from a ball, at which time his face was smooth and fair, but when he emerged his eye was blackened, as though by the blow from a fist, and the girl walked up the steps of her home alone.

Dominic Hoffman was appointed Justice of the peace at Dubuque, and the first official act he was called upon to perform was to unite a couple in marriage; but he is opposed on principle to formal wedlock and resigned his office on learning that he could be compelled to perform the marriage rite.

The first medal ever granted to the British army was bestowed in the reign of Charles I., to those engaged in forlorn hope. The defeat of the Scottish army at Dunbar was commemorated by medal; and one was given for Culloden. Prior to the Crimean war medals were few and far between.
